

Company Profile

Founded in 1946 as B.R. Homersham Limited, Homersham's remained a family owned and managed business until 1 February 2001 when it was purchased by the current owners and the name changed to Homersham Ltd. From a background of Electrical Engineering the Company diversified and flourished over the years, becoming a respected manufacturer and importer of quality industrial products. Today while still retaining some speciality lines, Homersham's concentrates on two areas.

Instrumentation Sales & Service involves the mediums of Temperature, Pressure, Level and Flow in industrial situations with ISO Accredited Certification available for critical applications.

Engineering Adhesives & Sealants have been imported since 1960 and the Company has built up a significant distribution network and high level of expertise in the marketing and application of these products.

Homersham's is a team of experienced and dedicated people who enjoy contributing to the success of their customers.
